INTRO

The 142 Series, designed by Eugenio Gerli, is greatly appreciated for its functionality and its ability to blend into all kinds of domestic, work and hospitality environments. The 142 Series has stood the test of time and become a classic Tecno product.

The series was conceived to satisfy the demand that arose as the result of the revolution in home design that began in the 1960s, when the lounge, dining room and relaxation area all began to merge into one multi-purpose space.

142 Series chairs come in a higher, more upright version (the S142) and in the lower, more enveloping armchair (the PS142). Both have a metal structure, are fully upholstered in fabric or leather covered polyurethane foam, and can be fitted with wheels or feet.
